PREMIER'S TASK SEEMS HOPELESS

Yuan Shih Kai's Control of Affairs Almost Nil.

DIPLOMATS FEAR DISORDERS

Legation Guards Thought to Be Strong Enough to Cope with Any Probable Situation and Prevent Massacre.

Pekin, Nov. 27.—The hopelessness of Yuan Shih Kai's task is daily becoming more apparent.

His control of affairs is hardly more than nominal even in Pekin and his authority is flouted southward to the Yangtse-Kiang. His attempts to form a cabinet have hitherto failed and none of his appointees to the chief posts has accepted. The diplomats, of course, recognize the fact that he is the premier and equally, of course, recognize his inability to enforce his authority outside of certain limits.

The anxiety over the troubles at the capital which evaporated on the arrival here of Yuan to accept the premiership are recurring to such an extent that the foreign diplomats, through Sir John Jordan, the British minister, formally reported to Yuan the dangers of possible disorders. The legation guards are constantly on the alert and may at any time be suddenly face to face with serious happenings. It is believed that they are strong enough to handle any such outbreaks and prevent a massacre unless such a thing was thoroughly organized.

The Chinese newspapers print the strangest reports about the republican movement and boldly speculate on the coming republican cabinet. The list of prospective ministers contain the names of Sun Yat San as president, General Li Yuan Hang as premier, Wu Ting Fang as minister of foreign affairs, Admiral Sah Chen Ping as secretary of the navy and General Huan Hsin as minister of war.

Meanwhile Yuan upholds the solemn farce of the throne's ascendancy. The regent, Prince Chun, on Sunday, with the prescribed ceremonies, took the promised oath on behalf of the infant emperor to recognize and maintain a constitution based on the now famous nineteen principles.

FIGHTING AT HANKOW

Republicans in Shanghai Claim Great Victory for Their Arms.

Shanghai, Nov. 27.—Beyond the fact that fighting is still going on at Hankow, the position is not clear. The republicans here claim that they have received dispatches from General Li Yuan Hang, the rebel commander, claiming a great victory on Saturday after two days' fighting. He claims to have driven the imperial troops out of the positions which they recently won. Other dispatches, however, say the fighting has been indecisive except that there has been a slight improvement in the position of the imperial forces.

The rebels began bombarding Nankin after taking the outlying forts.

YPSILANTI WOMAN GIVES ADDRESS ON PHRENOLOGY BEFORE HOWELL CLUB

The Livingston Republican published at Howell in giving an account of a meeting of a Woman's club held on Wednesday afternoon in that city has the following to say of an Ypsilanti woman:

"Mrs. M. H. Pettit of Ypsilanti gave an exceptionally fine address on the subject of 'Phrenology'. Mrs. Pettit held her audience in wrapt attention for a whole hour. She has made a study of the subject and is a recognized authority on phrenology. Her talk was not only pleasing but thoroughly instructive and made a pleasant change from the ordinary club topic."

Mr. Pettit was formerly pastor of the Howell Baptist church.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES AT ST. LUKES CHURCH

The churches will observe their usual custom this year of meeting together for a Thanksgiving service. It will be held in the Congregational church on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock and the sermon will be delivered by Rev. William H. Gardam of St. Luke's Episcopal church.

The collection taken will be given to the Ypsilanti Home Association, according to a long-time custom. The association has already had heavy drafts upon its treasury, so that a generously large collection at this time will be especially appreciated by them. It is, in fact, on this occasion they depend more than on any other through the year for contributions, and the need this year happens to be unusually keen.

ANN ARBOR NATIONAL GUARDS TO GIVE RECEPTION AND BALL

Ann Arbor, Nov. 27.—Sometime between now and the first of January Company I, Michigan National Guard, will give two functions in its new armory, in the nature of house warming. The first will be an informal reception giving to the citizens an apportunity to inspect the structure, and the second a grand military ball. The armory is a block off Main street, is two stories and a basement high, except for the rifle sheds. It is built of vitrified brick and trimmed with artificial stone. It has a frontage of 80 feet and a depth of 115 feet, and the drill hall is 76 by 79 feet.

The rifle range is different from any other indoor rifle range in the state, in that it has a floor of earth, covered with sand, thus allowing the men to take the same positions, while firing, which would be possible for then in an out of door range.

TO SELL 14,000 INDIAN ACRES

Good Chance For Persons Who Want Cheap Hunting Preserves.

The Indian commissioner announces that, beginning Dec. 2, every acre of unallotted land in the Cherokee Nation, 14,000 acres, will be sold at auction to the highest bidder regardless of the government appraisal.

If only 1 cent an acre is bid the land will be sold for that amount.

Most of it is either rough mountain and or overflow on the river bottoms and in small tracts. There are many ten and twenty-three acre tracts along the banks of the Illinois river and the Barren Fork, in the Ozark hills, however, that will be eagerly sought by persons who want hunting and fishing lodges. The land in each county will be sold at the county seats.

However, arrangements have been made for temporary hotel quarters, and J. E. Kelsey, who conducted the Anderson house, will re-establish himself in the hotel business next week and these temporary quarters will be used until the Anderson can be rebuilt.

Ann Arbor, Nov. 27.—News has been received here of the death in Tampa, Fla., last Thursday of Seward Cramer, a former well known newspaper writer of this city, who went south two years ago in the hope of regaining his health. He was graduated from the engineering department of the University of Michigan in 1887 and from the law department in 1891. He is survived by a widow and one son, Seward, Jr.

Lincoln Center, Kan., Nov. 27.—The "tar party" trial past, the town is returning to its accustomed quiet. All the defendants in the case, except Edward Ricord, who is in jail here, are at their homes.

They were not actually present at the tarring and it is known Prosecutor McCanless will ask that they be let off with a fine. Motions for a new trial in their cases will be argued Dec. 18, and no sentence will be passed until then, at least.

WEDDING OF FORMER YPSILANTI GIRL IN SAN FRANCISCO

The wedding of Miss Genevieve Shutts and Royal A. Boyd took place Thursday, November 16, at the home of the bride, 1010 Ashbury street, San Francisco. ATTEMPT TO KILL GOV. TENER

Pennsylvania's Governor Turns Over to Authorities an "Infernal Machine."

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 27.—What is believed to have been an attempt to injure Governor John K. Tener of Pennsylvania was discovered at Charleroi, Pa., the home of the governor.

A device containing powder, a match, piece of steel, a bullet shaped piece of lead, and a small sheet of paper inscribed "Drive the Republican bosses out," was turned over to the United States postal authorities. Governor Tener received it through the mail several days ago. It had been mailed from Philadelphia.

Postoffice Inspector Williams saturated the contrivance with water and after waiting some time opened it with a penknife. On the outer cover was a printed slip reading: "Memorial to state's heroes dedicated." Inside was found powder mixed with a substance as yet unknown. There is no clew to the sender.

BOY SCOUTS DEMONSTRATE WORK IN SALINE

The Boy Scouts of Ypsilanti won new laurels Friday evening last, when, responding to an invitation from the Saline people, they went over to that town and demonstrated the work of the movement. The fifty-three Scouts were headed by their president, Dr. W. H. Sherzer, and accompanied by two of the Scout Masters, Herbert C. Gordon and George Willard, and the secretary, F. U. Quillin. Rev. Marshall H. Pettit, Rev. C. M. Creighton and F. R. Gorton were in the company, and the whole was enlivened by the Normal band.

Arriving in Saline in their special car, the Scouts paraded the streets for a length of six blocks, returning to the opera house at 7:30. The program opened with President Sherzer in charge.

The program consisted of the following features: the history of the flag; tying six different kinds of knots; special rope work, showing how to throw the life line, how to tie bed clothing together in case of fire, how to lower persons when conscious from a window in case of fire, how to use the fireman's drag, after creeping into a smoke-filled room keeping the face close to the floor below the smoke, and rope-splicing. The first aid to the injured shown consisted in stopping the flow of blood from a wound and bandaging, treating a broken limb and resuscitating a person rendered unconscious from faint, or drunkenness, sunstroke, etc.

The signal work was illustrated quite fully, both wig-wagging and the wireless. Messages were sent by telephone back to the ticket office, then to the stage again, using the magneto telephone.

At the conclusion President Sherzer answered various questions that were put to him at his invitation. Howard Bartlett, who has been prominent in organizing the work in Saline, complimented the boys for the skill they had shown. The Ypsilanti and Saline boys then exchanged salutes.

One thing that added greatly to every part of the evening was the music of the Normal band. They played in the street parade and thus interested the people in the advent of the Ypsilanti Scouts and they also played several times during the evening in the hall. Their kind contribution of music was greatly appreciated by those in charge as well as the Boy Scouts.

ROOSEVELT NOT IN THE RUNNING

Assures Friends Emphatically He Is Not a Candidate.

NOT PLEDGED TO TAFT FOR 1912

Ex-President States His Position in Regard to Presidency Candidly to Friendly Newspaper in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—Theodore Roosevelt's recent editorial in the Outlook upon the trust question has led to deductions so false and to political discussions so unfortunate that it seems expedient for an accurate and authoritative statement to be made regarding his position, particularly toward the campaign of 1912.

Such a statement can be made better perhaps by the North American (newspaper) than by any other agency.

Just one year ago Colonel Roosevelt confided to this newspaper his views regarding the use of his name as a receptive candidate for the Republican nomination and his firm purpose in relation thereto. At that time influential eastern papers were proclaiming that Colonel Roosevelt was actually pledged to support Mr. Taft for renomination, and were intimating that news of this arrangement emanated from the White House itself. Many national leaders accepted these statements as facts.

Colonel Roosevelt declared most emphatically that he had not pledged his support to Mr. Taft, privately or publicly, in set terms or even by implication. He said he would not support any man for the nomination in 1912, neither Mr. Taft or any one else. As to a statement that the president believed he would have Roosevelt's support, Colonel Roosevelt said that Mr. Taft could not believe anything of the kind; that, in fact, Mr. Taft knew that he had no such assurance and that neither Mr. Taft nor any one else had one particle of ground for such opinion.

As to the persistent suggestions that he had designs upon the nomination himself, Colonel Roosevelt was equally emphatic and explicit. At that time and on subsequent occasions, more than once in our presence, Colonel Roosevelt received tenders of support from men of wide political influence, men who will control delegates in the convention. To each and every such proposal, Colonel Roosevelt replied with emphasis and forceful sincerity that he was not in the remotest sense a candidate for the nomination and that he declined and deplored all such suggestions as were being made to him.

William Jennings Bryan, who is one of the passengers, said in an interview that there were three lessons to be learned from the stranding of the vessel: First, the need for two wireless operators on each vessel, one for day and one for night work in case of accident; second, each steamship should carry osme Lifeboats equipped with motors, and Third that a lighthouse should be built on Atwood Cay. Mr. Bryan will spend some time here with his daughter, Mrs. Owen.

A GOOD EXAMPLE FOR MICHIGAN.

In a few days what is said to be the greatest automobile race in the world will take place at Savannah, Georgia. Hemery Wagner of France, Bruce-Brown, "Bob" Burman, Ralph DePalma, Caleb Bragg, Hearne, Mulford Dawson, Patschke, Disbrow and Basle and other daredevil drivers of big machines will contest for the World's Championship. Several may be killed,—one or more almost of a certainty,—and perhaps many bystanders as well, and nothing very great is likely to be accomplished.

We are not much interested in this use of "good roads," but we do commend the following sentiment for application to the "better country roads" movement in Michigan:

"Georgia has worked its convicts on the roads for many years and the Savannah roads are a fine example of the result of using the labor of the unfortunates on roads instead of keeping them cooped in walled prisons, year after year, producing nothing of value or use to the citizens. The good roads conventions and gatherings would accomplish much more immediate good if the orators preached the use of convicts on roads, instead of asking for million dollar bond issues."

Faculty Recital Tuesday

MISS GILPIN WILL TAKE MRS. ELLA LITTLEFELD'S PLACE ON THE PROGRAM.

Tuesday evening the second faculty recital will be given at the Normal and the new hour will be observed for commencing—7:45, instead of 8 o'clock. Miss Vivian Gilpin will sing instead of Mrs. Ella Littlefield, who will appear in December.

Miss Gilpin will sing an Italian aria from Gluck's opera, "Paris and Helen," and a Romance by Gounod, "Si le bonheur." She will also sing a song by Franz, two new songs by the Boston song-writer, Benjamin Whelpley,—"I Know a Hill" and "Dinna ask me"—will be done by Miss Gilpin. Mr. Whelpley's songs are distinguished by elements of beauty quite of his own applying and are found on the programs of many of the best singers.

Miss Frances Crossette will play two groups of piano solos. The first will comprise a Gluck Melody, Pirkert's Etude for the left hand, and Valse Mignon by Schuett. Her second number will be a Norwegian Suite by Olsen.

Professor Alexander will play two organ solos: the Lento movement from one of Guillmand's compositions, called "Dreams" and an Andante maestoso by Liszt.

The last number will be a dramatic song by Miss Gilpin with organ accompaniment by Mr. Alexander, "Save me, O God," by Randegger.

Woman's World

Princess Patricia to Visit United States.

PRINCESS PATRICIA OF CONNAUGHT.

England has a genuine grievance in the fact that owing to the duke's appointment the "popular Connaughts" have all gone to live in Canada for a time. It is safe to say that all the other members of the royal family might have left en masse and not have been as sincerely regretted as are this uncle of King George and his wife and family.

Of course the loss of Princess Patricia causes the deepest pang. She is the only princess in Great Britain who is really pretty, clever and witty as well as young. Then, too, she has a little atmosphere of romance which rouses all the sentiment in English breasts. She is quite unlike her cousin, the somewhat stodgy Ena of Battenberg, who is now queen of Spain, and equally unlike the thin, shy, delicate daughters of the Duchess of Fife. She is just a typical, healthy, charming English girl, only with far more than their usual amount of brains and a most unroyal sense of humor.

Princess Patricia herself is quite enthusiastic about going to Canada. She intends to visit all the interesting places in the Dominion, and she and her brother, Prince Arthur of Connaught, are planning to see something of America also, traveling incognito and visiting most of the large cities. Princess Patricia saw her father and mother off for Canada; then she herself started for Sweden, where she is to have a farewell visit with her sister, the crown princess of Sweden. About Christmas she will join the duke and duchess in their new home.

Her love affair with a certain English marquis who is not of high enough rank to marry her is well known, and the young couple are regarded as models of fidelity.

Thoroughness an Asset.

One qualification a business girl should cultivate, if she wants to give satisfaction and to be sure always of a position, is thoroughness. The girl who does things thoroughly is a joy to her employer. Let her have that reputation and a business man will bolt the office door for fear she will escape before he can engage her.

The girl who half does her work is everywhere. The girl who is thorough is rare. And, like all rare things, she is prized.

Everywhere thoroughness is rated high. All lines of work require it. It is a quality that employers need most urgently. It is absolutely essential to successful business. A business man can't afford to jeopardize his business by placing it in the hands of the girl who half does her work. He knows that the injurious results of neglect, forgetfulness or indifference may be farreaching.

When a girl acquires a reputation for thoroughness, when it becomes known that she can be absolutely depended upon to do thoroughly what is intrusted to her, that no part of her work will be left undone, no part done carelessly, she will never be out of a position long.

Don'ts For Engaged Girls.

Don't exhibit him to your women friends as you would a new hat.

Don't think he's neglecting you because he isn't neglecting his business.

Don't note his vices before noticing his virtues. You will love him for both.

Don't ask his opinions on woman's rights. You will never get the truth until after you are married.

Don't be dictated to by all your female relatives. Remember they would like to marry him themselves.

Don't keep the past a closed book. Remember the past is never wholly your own property. Let him protect your interests.

Don't call him clever if he isn't. You are certain to tell him the reverse after you are married.

Don't keep a diary. You may want to burn it.

Don't forget he wants more mothering than when a boy.

Don't flirt with him.

MISS FOLA LA FOLLETTE, ACTRESS AND SUFFRAGIST.

MISS FOLA LA FOLLETTE has not been content with being known as the daughter of Senator La Follette. She realized that having a noted father might be a handicap as well as an advantage. Having faith in her own ability she believed that she could achieve success without depending on her distinguished paternal ancestor. So she went on the stage a few years ago and, while she did not attain stardom at a bound, she did make a reputation as a talented and conscientious worker. She had engagements with several leading theatrical organizations and was favorably received by the public and the critics. During all the time she was on the stage she talked equal suffrage and she asked, "Is there any good reason why I should not vote?" in a manner that left room for but one answer. Now Miss La Follette has decided that matrimony offers advantages, and her engagement to George Middleton has been announced. Mr. Middleton is a playwright and lives in New York.

FORMER PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S CRITICISM OF THE GOVERNMENT'S WAR ON THE STEEL TRUST.

[From ex-President Roosevelt's editorial in the Outlook.]

THE suit against the steel trust has brought vividly before our people the need of reducing to order our chaotic governmental policy in regard to business.

I was not misled. The representatives of the Steel corporation told me the truth as to what the effect of the action at that time would be, and any statement that I was misled or that the representatives of the Steel corporation did not thus tell me the truth is itself not in accordance with the truth.

The action not merely was wise and proper, but it would have been a calamity from every standpoint had I failed to take it.

The Steel corporation has steadily lost instead of gained in monopolistic character.

The effort to prohibit all combinations, good or bad, is bound to fail and ought to fail. Our purpose should be not to strangle business as an incident of strangling combinations, but to regulate big corporations in thoroughgoing and effective fashion so as to help legitimate business.

Nothing of importance is gained by breaking up a huge industrial organization, which has not offended otherwise than by its size, into a number of small concerns without any attempt to regulate the way in which these concerns as a whole shall do business.

In the case of the Standard Oil, and especially the tobacco trust, there is need for far more drastic and thoroughgoing action than any that has been taken.

The decision of the circuit court if allowed to stand means that the tobacco trust has merely been obliged to change its clothes; that none of the real offenders has received any real punishment.

Miscarriage of justice is not too strong a term to apply to such a result when considered in connection with what the supreme court said of this trust.

Copyright by Pach Bros.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Wrongdoing such as was perpetrated by the Standard Oil trust, and especially by the tobacco trust, should not only be punished, but if possible punished in the persons of the chief authors and beneficiaries of the wrong far more severely than at present.

The fact that a combination is very big is ample reason for exercising a close and jealous supervision over it, because its size renders it potent for mischief. But it should not be punished unless it actually does the mischief. It should merely be so supervised and controlled as to guarantee us, the people, against its doing mischief.

The anti-trust law is not adequate to meet the situation that has grown up because of modern business conditions and the accompanying tremendous increase in the business use of vast quantities of corporate wealth.

To attempt to meet the whole problem not by administrative governmental action, but by a succession of lawsuits, is hopeless.

SAME FAVOR AS CANADA

Norway and Sweden Ask Us to Admit Pulp and Paper Free.

Norway and Sweden, through their diplomatic representatives, have requested the United States to grant to them under the favored nations clause of their treaties the same privileges given to Canada by section 2 of the reciprocity agreement, by which wood pulp and print paper are admitted free of duty into the United States. Several other countries, including Germany, it is believed, have asked the same privilege from the United States.

Those requests place formally before the state department the question of whether wood pulp and print paper can be admitted free from other countries than Canada under the favored nation clauses in the existing treaties between the United States and those countries. Officers of the state department are in consultation on the subject with officers of the customs service of the treasury department, and a final decision will not be made until these conferences have been concluded.

Under section 2 of the Canadian reciprocity agreement print paper and wood pulp were given free entry to the United States. This section of the bill became effective on July 1 last, independent of the passage of the law by congress, and its operation was not dependant upon ratification of the reciprocity agreement by Canada.

BEES' GET-RICH-QUICK OFFER

They'll Make 150 Per Cent on Your Money In the West.

Profits of about 150 per cent a year can be made in the bee industry on some of the government's reclamation projects of the west, according to officials of the reclamation service.

"The average price of bees in the west," said C. J. Blanchard, statistician of the service, "is probably about $5 a hive. The manager of a large apiary on one of the irrigated tracts gives the average production of his hives at seventy-six pounds of surplus honey per annum. At 10 cents a pound the returns would be $7.60. In addition to that, the increase averages 100 per cent a year, doubling the original investment and making a total of 150 per cent profit each year on the original investment.

"Reports indicate that the quality of the honey raised on some of our government projects is excellent," continued Mr. Blanchard. "Many bee farmers have located in fruit sections, and the combination is found to be mutually advantageous. The trees furnish an abundance of honey during the blossoming period, and orchard men state that the economic importance of the bee from the standpoint of its value in the pollenization of fruit cannot be overestimated."

IN AID OF ARBITRATION.

Citizens' National Committee Plans Country Wide Mass Meetings.

To arouse public sentiment in favor of the arbitration treaties between the United States and Great Britain and France, now pending before the United States senate, a nation wide campaign, with public meetings in about thirty of the leading cities of the country, has been planned.

A citizens' national committee, consisting of about 300 prominent men of the country, with headquarters in New York, is behind the movement, and it is the purpose to have all of these meetings occur between Nov. 15 and the middle of January. Where local speakers are not available it is the intention of the general committee to send speakers of national reputation to any of the cities that may desire them.

The cities in which meetings are to be held include New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburgh, New Orleans, Indianapolis, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco and Seattle.

Friendly Confidences.

"What did my ma say to you when you came in?" inquired Johnny of his friend who had come to tea. "She said she was very pleased to see me." "I'm glad," said Johnny in a relieved tone. "Cos she said this morning she hoped you wouldn't come."—Stray Stories.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A LITTLE SAGE AND SULPHUR MAKES GRAY HAIR VANISH—A REMEDY FOR HAIR TROUBLES.

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of air, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thin or turning gray, get a bottle of this remedy from your druggist today, and see what it will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent, Weinmann-Matthews Co., 118 Congress street.

PLANS FLIGHT OVER SEA.

German Scientist Here In Interest of Herr Brucker's Balloon Trip.

Dr. Paul F. Gans of Frankfort, Germany, who is visiting in this country, is distinguished in the field of aeronautic science. He was president of the great Frankfort Aeronautic exposition and is president and chief financial supporter of the Transatlantic Flight company of Germany, which is about to send a dirigible airship across the Atlantic.

Dr. Gans is here for two purposes. One is to complete the arrangements for the landing of the airship, the Suchard, at Barbados, in the West Indies, and the other is to call upon the president and the secretary of the navy at Washington and to complete arrangements for American warships to patrol the course of the dirigible. Germany has already designated a cruiser to patrol the course at Tenerife, off one of the Canary islands, from which the Suchard will begin her trip, following the trade wind.

The project is the conception of Herr Joseph Brucker, who has been working upon it for five years and succeeded in interesting such men of wealth and scientific attainments as Dr. Gans and even members of the kaiser's family, the Princess Henry having christened the ship. Herr Brucker and a crew of six will be in charge of the Suchard when she departs from Tenerife shortly after Dec. 1.

MADE CHIEF GEOLOGIST.

Waldemar Lindgren Appointed to the Position by Secretary Fisher.

Waldemar Lindgren has been appointed chief geologist of the United States geological survey by Secretary of the Interior Fisher.

Mr. Lindgren joined the geographical survey as assistant geologist in 1884, since which time he has been continuously connected with that department. In the season of 1883 he served as an assistant geologist on the northern transcontinental survey, which included an examination of the land grant of the Northern Pacific railroad.

During his connection with the geological survey he has also rendered services as associate professor on mining and metallurgy at Leland Stanford university and as lecturer on economic geology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for several years.

BAN "CIVIL WAR."

Confederate Women Want It Called "War Between the States."

The United Daughters of the Confederacy recently denounced the Elson history as prejudicial to the south and condemned its use in southern schools and colleges. In a resolution which was unanimously adopted the history was characterized as "too willful, wicked and slanderous to go unchallenged by the Daughters."

The United States government was called upon to substitute the term "war between the states" for "civil war" and "war of the rebellion" in all official references to the struggle of the sixties.

ANNUAL REPORT OF TREASURER M'CLUNG.

Government's Receipts Last Year Were the Greatest In History.

Increased salaries for his subordinate officers, better facilities for exchanging worn paper and the issue of five dollar gold certificates are some of the recommendations made by Lee McClung, treasurer of the United States, in his annual report for the last fiscal year. Personal bonds for officials and employees handling money, restriction on amount of five dollar banknotes and the increase of the 5 per cent banknote redemption fund also are advocated.

According to the report, a new record was made in the ordinary receipts of the government for the fiscal year 1911, which attained a maximum at $701,372,374.99, notwithstanding a decrease of $19,186,373.79 in receipts from customs, as compared with those of 1910, which, it is fair to presume, was caused by the discussion of tariff schedules in congress and the action probable in the near future in reduction of rates of duties. However, this decrease was more than offset by increased receipts from internal revenue (ordinary), corporation tax and miscellaneous sources, so that the net increase from all ordinary sources for the year was $25,860,659.97.

The total ordinary disbursements were $654,137,997.89, which, by classified comparison with 1910, shows a net decrease in the total of civil and miscellaneous accounts, the navy department, pensions and interest on the public debt, while increased disbursements are recorded in the war department and on account of Indians. The net result on ordinary disbursements was a decrease of $5,567,393.19. The surplus on ordinary transactions for the year was $47,234,377.10.

The notes and certificates of United States paper currency issued during the year numbered 267,207,921 pieces of the total value of $913,540,000. The redemptions were 251,189,762 pieces, of the total value of $807,650,200, while the pieces outstanding number 309,946,146, of the total value of $1,809,296,085.

The general stock of money in the United States at the close of the fiscal year 1911 was $3,555,958,977, an increase of $136,367,494 during the year, of which $117,153,244 was in gold coin and bullion. National banknotes received an increment of $14,763,775.

PURITY LAWS IGNORED.

One-third of Foods and Drugs Examined Found Unfit.

More than 3,000 samples of imported food and drugs analyzed at entry ports in the last year were found to be misbranded or adulterated. This was almost one-third of the number examined.

Similar results attended the work of the inspection force of the bureau of chemistry in its examination of interstate foods and drugs, among 9,500 samples 3,113 having been found to be misbranded or adulterated.

STOPS BLOOD FLOW TO BRAIN

Surgeon Deflects It In Injured Head by Ligation of Internal Carotid.

Demonstrations in advanced surgery were made in many Philadelphia hospitals by famous surgeons for the benefit of delegates assembled to attend the clinical congress of surgeons of North America.

An operation considered fatal until modern surgery lent its aid was performed at the University hospital to deflect the flow of blood from one part of the injured head of a patient. Its purpose was accomplished by Dr. John D. Deaver by the ligation of the internal carotid, the principal artery of the neck supplying blood to the greater part of the brain, the orbit, internal ear and the forehead and nose.

The operation stopped the supply of blood to the brain through this channel, relieving the congestion. A sufficient amount, however, to maintain life is still conveyed by the external carotid and its branches, and as the injured portion of the skull heals nature will adapt itself to the changed condition, and the arteries which have been forced to do added duty will gradually dilate until the normal supply of blood is distributed in all parts of the head.

VETERAN ENGINE DRIVER DEAD

Chatterton Was Fireman When Wood Was Used Instead of Coal.

Edwin Chatterton, who was the oldest engineer of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and the last surviving member of the New Haven Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is dead.

He was born at New Haven seventy-six years ago and entered the employ of the New Haven road as fireman in 1852, when wood instead of coal was used as engine fuel. He also saw service on the New Haven and Northampton and the Hartford and Shore roads before their amalgamation into the present system. He was the first man to run an engine over the Northampton line into Northampton and was engineer of the train which was to meet the ill fated train at South Norwalk in the catastrophe in the early fifties. By stopping his train in time he prevented it from following the other into the river.

He was retired on a pension in 1903.

The memorial, which is expected to be unveiled the latter part of December, will be a large natural bowlder bearing a bronze tablet, on which will be inscribed the names of the men drowned. Chaplain W. G. Cassard of the New Hampshire will have charge of the arrangements for the memorial.

ELECTRICALLY STERILIZED WATER FOR THE ARMY.

New Scientific Method to Kill Of Germs in Phillippines.

Drinking water for the army wil be sterilized by electricity as a result of experiments made by the tropica board of the medical corps. Like many other valuable discoveries of army medical officers, this latest system of treating drinking water may be adopted in civil life. Drinking water, it seems, can be purified more cheaply by electricity than by the universal method of boiling.

At the same time the "live" taste of drinking water will be retained. All the microbes and death dealing animalculae, according to the report of the tropical board, can be dispatched by a single flash of the rays from an electric bulb. These rays are known technically as "ultra violet" rays.

The board has been experimenting in the Philippines with ultra violet rays for more than a year. In the islands more soldiers have been killed by impure drinking water than by Filipino bullets. It has been found almost impossible to induce the soldiers to boil their drinking water, and they too often have preferred to take chances of impurities of the surface water in the islands rather than drink the flat, boiled liquid.

The work of producing ultra violet rays will be a very simple one at the posts, most of which have electrical plants. For troops in the field it is proposed to furnish a small gasoline engine to run a miniature electric plant. It is not the heat from the electric bulb that kills the germs, but the ultra violet rays.

Insurance Company Reinstated.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 27.—Insurance Commissioner Palmer announced that President H. G. Austin, of the Old Colony Commercial Life Insurance company of Chicago, had paid the penalty assessed against the company of $810 for failure to take out agents' licenses, and the company has been reinstated in Michigan. "The financial condition of the company was not involved in any way," said the commissioner, "and the company is able to take care of all its contracts."

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 27.—Paul Tower, the Adams Express company's agent who was charged with complicity with the recent $9,000 hold-up, was held for trial in the superior court by Justice Hess, on the testimony of Burton McClellan, the confessed robber. Tower succeeded in procuring bondsmen and was released from the custody of the sheriff.

Ionia Woman Hurt in Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Miss Emma Arnold of Ionia, Mich., was struck and fatally injured when she stepped from a northbound Clark street car at Sherman place and was knocked down by another car running in the opposite direction. She walked around the rear end of the car from which she had alighted and did not see the southbound car.

Canal Approaches Completion.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 27.—Work on the Lake Huron canal is nearing completion so rapidly that the big dredge which has been throwing up the dirt for such a long time will be taken off the job and shipped back to its owners in Mt. New Board to Inspect The Wreck of the Maine

Five Army and Navy Officers Instructed to Learn Cause of Explosion

None of Them Had Anything to Do With the Investigation of 1898

A BOARD of five army and navy officers has been appointed to inspect the wreck of the battleship Maine and report all possible data which it can gather, including the cause of the destruction of the vessel. The members of the board are Rear Admiral Charles E. Vreeland, aid for inspections; Chief Constructor Richard M. Watt, Colonel William Black, engineer corps; Commander Charles F. Hughes, member of the board of inspection and survey, and Commander Joseph Strauss, on duty in the office of the aid for material.

This will be the second formal investigation of the cause of the wreck of the battleship.

The personnel of the board is significant. None of the members was identified with the first investigation, which immediately followed the destruction of the vessel. Admiral Vreeland and Commander Hughes are members of the board of inspection and were selected because of their familiarity with this sort of work. Chief Constructor Watt is chief of the bureau of construction and repair and an expert on the structural features of naval vessels. Commander Strauss is a powder expert and was formerly in charge of the naval proving ground at Indian Head, Md. Colonel Black was chosen because of the fact that he was the president of the army board which decided to raise the Maine by means of a cofferdam. He is the senior engineer officer in charge of the work of raising and removing the Maine from Havana harbor in accordance with legislation passed several years ago.

$500,000 Already Spent.

About $500,000 has already been spent in raising the Maine. A large cofferdam was constructed around the vessel and the mud cleared away. For the last few weeks no work has been done, as the hurricane season was threatening. All danger of an accident of this sort is now over, and the army engineers are ready to remove all the water from the cofferdam and disclose the hulk of the Maine for the investigation of the board.

Immediately after the wrecking of the Maine on Feb. 15, 1898, a court of inquiry was appointed, consisting of Captain William T. Sampson, president; Captain French E. Chadwick and Lieutenant Commander William F. Potter, and Lieutenant Commander Adolph Marx, judge advocate. After hearing testimony for about three weeks the court found that the loss of the Maine was not due to any fault or negligence on the part of any of the officers or members of her crew; that the ship was destroyed by the explosion of a submarine mine which caused the partial explosion of two or more of her forward magazines and that no evidence was obtainable to fix the responsibility for the destruction of the Maine on any person or persons. Much of the testimony on which this report was based was from naval and civilian divers who investigated the condition of the wreck below the water line.

The new board, however, will have better facilities for studying the probable causes of the wreck. The water will be entirely removed from the cofferdam, which will give the naval and army experts an opportunity of gathering first hand information, and they will not have to rely on the reports of divers.

There has always been a good deal of comment not only in navy circles, but also in the American and foreign press, as to whether or not the report of the court of inquiry of 1898 was justified by the actual conditions of the wrecked vessel.

Former Report Not Conclusive.

While the officers who were on board the Maine and who were connected with the investigation which followed the disaster have always maintained that the vessel was blown up by a submarine mine, there has been an element in the navy and elsewhere who contend that it is impossible to regard the report of the court of inquiry as conclusive. Last winter Rear Admiral George W. Melville, retired, former engineer in chief of the navy, wrote a magazine article in which he argued that, although parts of the keel and bottom plates were driven upward many feet above their normal position, this did not constitute conclusive evidence that the primary explosion was external. The army engineers who are engaged in raising the wreck also incline toward this view. They hold that the explosion of the two forward magazines caused such widespread destruction and the action of explosives is so uncertain that the real cause of the destruction of the Maine probably will never be positively ascertained.

Several weeks ago Washington L. Capps, former chief constructor of the navy, was sent to Havana to identify certain parts of the wreck. Mr. Capps was one of the naval officers who superintended the construction of the Maine, and for this reason he was selected to go to Havana to identify portions of the wreck which had been disclosed when the water in the cofferdam was lowered. Mr. Capps submitted his report to Secretary of the Navy Meyer. While his report has never been made public, it is in accord with the theory that the primary explosion was external. Army and navy officers who have seen the wreck since the cofferdam has been built are confident that the report of the new board will corroborate the finding of the first investigation in 1898.

Findings to Go to Congress.

For some time the feeling has been growing among the higher officers of the war and navy departments that some official action should be taken to put an end to the view which is prevalent in some quarters that the primary explosion on the Maine was inside the vessel. The officials of the government have resented the suggestion that the finding of the court of inquiry of 1898 was not based upon accurate data. This was one of the important considerations that led to the appointment of the second Maine board. Its report will probably be filed with the secretary of the navy in time for submission to congress at the coming session.

After the board completes its investigation of the wreck the army engineers will lose no time in complying with the law of congress which provides for the removal of the hulk from Havana harbor. The after part of the ship, according to reports received here, can be raised and floated out to sea, where it will be sunk in deep water. The bow will have to be cut in sections and placed on scows and disposed of in the same manner.

The remains of more than fifty victims of the disaster have been recovered and will be buried in the Arlington National cemetery. The mainmast of the vessel will be erected over their graves as a memorial.

NAVY'S GIANT TORPEDO.

New Implement of War Places This Country on Par With Others.

A new giant torpedo, designed for use in the United States navy, was tested recently in Sag Harbor under supervision of several navy experts. It is now declared the torpedo will place the United States navy on an equal footing with any other power in this exceptionally important department of the war game.

The new torpedo is of the turbine pattern and is twenty-one feet long. Fired several times at thirty-two knots speed, it traversed more than 10,000 yards. At twenty-seven knots it made a range of more than 8,000 yards.

At the present time the battleships and armored cruisers of the navy are mostly equipped with torpedoes that have a speed of thirty-five knots and go 5,000 yards. Destroyers carry the Whiteheads, which have a speed of thirty-seven knots and go more than 4,000 yards.

The manufacturers are said to have a contract with the navy department to supply 500 torpedoes within the next two years.

Warships to Have Incinerators.

Owing to the fact that the litter of refuse thrown from a battleship may provide a trail by means of which the enemy may ascertain the direction it is taking, the navy department proposes to install incinerators on its ships. During the world girdling cruise of the battleship fleet the slower service ships reported that they had no difficulty in trailing the fighters by the litter which floated for miles in their wake. Incinerators are now used on British warships.

STOP BANK OVERDRAFTS.

Comptroller of Currency Acts—Average of $33,000,000 a Year.

Comptroller of the Currency Murray has undertaken to destroy by moral suasion the practice of banks of permitting customers to overdraw their deposits. He instructed the national bank examiners to take up the question with the national banks throughout the country, calling to their attention laws enacted by the states on the subject and a decision by the supreme court of the United States severely criticising the practice.

The national bank act is silent on the question of overdrafts, and the comptroller expects to accomplish the abolition of the custom by pointing out its evils. The overdrafts in national banks, as reported on the call of the comptroller of the currency, averaged $33,000,000 in the last five years. The high water mark was $53,000,000, and the lowest amount reported was $23,000,000 during that period.

A New Wrinkle In Paper Bags.

One of the latter day minor refinements of the retail hat business is found in the furnishing of paper bags in which the customer can carry home his hat without attracting attention from everybody he meets. It used to be that the hat was put in a bag made of straw colored paper, and such a bag against the carrier's darker clothing could be seen a block, but nowadays the hatter drops your new hat for you into a black paper bag, a bag made of unglazed paper of a dull, grayish black, a bag in which the customer can carry his new hat home inconspicuously.

THE REASONABLE WAY

Strong vigorous men, women and children hardly ever catch cold—it's only when your system is run down and vitality low that cold and coughs can get a foothold.

Now isn't it reasonable that the right way to cure a cough is to build up your strength again?

Mr. Patrick Wren, of N. Birmingham, Ala., knows about this. He says, "I caught a bad cold a year ago and had a bad cough for long time, but Vinol relieved it completely and built up my health. Vinol is the best medicine I ever used or heard of for coughs and colds."

This splendid cod liver and iron remedy does not smell or taste like cod liver oil, but is so delicious that children love to take it. Yet it has the strengthening value of cod liver oil, with tonic, blood-building iron.

Chronic bronchitis yields to Vinol because it builds up the system in all weakened and rundown conditions. You can get your money back any time if Vinol does not do all we say. Weinmann-Matthews Co., 118 Congress street.

Sensible Women Know Foundation of Health

As health talks to women become more general, both in the newspapers and on the platform, the mass of women are beginning to realize what the more cultivated have always known, that good health cannot be found in a powder box. The externals of health may be obtained in that way, but the basis of health lies deeper, and yet is just as easily obtained.

The most important thing that a woman can do for herself, and about which she is often most neglectful, is to watch the condition of her stomach and bowels. The weary eyes, the bad breath, the frequent headaches, the pimples, the general air of lassitude is nine times out of ten the result of constipation or indigestion, or both. Many simple remedies can be obtained, but the best in the estimation of most women is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is mild, pleasant to the taste and exactly suited to her needs. It is far superior to salts, cathartic pills, waters, etc., which are entirely too violent.

Women should see to it that they have at least one movement of the bowels each day, and when showing any tendency to constipation should take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the small dose prescribed. A brief use of it will so train the stomach and bowel muscles that all forms of medicine can be dispensed with. These opinions are voiced by thousands of women, after personal experience, among them Rhoda Gillett, Dutton, Mich., and Mrs. J. A. Clark, Fennville, Mich.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.
